POSITION SUMMARY: The Registered Nurse/Project Lead for Siksika Health Services (SHS) is responsible implementing, and managing programs and projects focused on primary preventative care. This role involves a collaborative approach to improving the health and well-being of individuals within the Siksika Nation by addressing preventable health issues through education, early intervention, and community-based initiatives.

The Registered Nurse/Project Lead will actively develop health-focused policies, coordinate care delivery plans, and oversee initiatives aimed at promoting health literacy, preventative screenings, and wellness. This position aligns with SHS’s commitment to culturally responsive, patient-centered care while respecting and promoting the values and traditions of the Siksika Nation.

Responsibilities include, but will not be limited to:

- Develop and implement primary preventative care initiatives to improve community health outcomes.
- Create and maintain policies and procedures that reflect best practices in preventative care and cultural competence.
- Collaborate with healthcare providers and community stakeholders to identify and address health risks within the Siksika Nation.
- Plan and execute educational campaigns to increase health literacy and promote healthy lifestyles, such as nutrition, physical activity, and smoking cessation.
- Coordinate and manage preventative health screenings and immunization programs.
- Monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of projects, using data to inform adjustments and report on outcomes.
- Train and support SHS staff in implementing preventative care strategies aligned with cultural values and healthcare best practices.
- Act as a point of contact for patients and families seeking preventative care guidance and resources.
- Liaise with external agencies and organizations to secure funding and establish partnerships for preventative care programs.
- Stay informed on trends, regulations, and best practices in public health and preventative care.
- Provide regular updates and recommendations to SHS leadership on the progress of preventative care initiatives.
